If you want to find out about the race and all the teams in it, head to Sleepmonsters. If you want to get a brand new view into the sport of Expedition-length Adventure Racing, follow Team Feed The Machine through their blog at <http://team.feedthemachine.com>. The team has received special permission from the race director to submit several blog entries with photos to the site, during the race, out on the course, in REAL TIME! You will get the chance to see the race through the racers eyes as the race unfolds.

The team is a good one with Evan Hyde, Jeff Bender, Melissa Coombes, and Christian Burke destined for an exciting finish. The postings on the site should start December 3rd (today) and go until well after the race.

We would like to send a quick thanks to all our sponsors who helped get us here
